Summary

I am a second-year computer science student specialising in mobile app development. Currently, I am training in the DEPI program, where I am building my skills in Java, Kotlin, Android SDK, Java object-oriented programming (OOP), Kotlin OOP, data structures and algorithms (DSA), and testing. I have a strong problem-solving mindset and am committed to learning and improving my skills. I continuously strive to enhance my projects and toolkit. I look forward to assisting you with any Android services.
